My role as the department’s Plant Science Facilitator is a part-time post funded by the Bristol Centre for Agricultural Innovation (BCAI). http://www.bristol.ac.uk/biology/bcai/

The aim of this post is to provide support to Bristol’s plant sciences community by: promoting our research, organising plant science themed workshops/conferences/meetings, working within the BCAI committee, supporting plant science impact activities and contributing to the plant sciences research programme by enabling new collaborations between research groups and industry.

Memberships

Organisations

School of Biological Sciences

Recent publications

View complete publications list in the University of Bristol publications system